Scientific Instrumentation Ltd., (SIL) premier supplier of scientific and research instrumentation has now placed their CADI data on line for public use.

This new CADI data collection site is located at 52 Lat., 253 E-Long, near Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada. This system joins over 30 others operating worldwide including systems installed this year in Malaysia, Indonesia and Canada.

Data can be viewed at http://www.sil.sk.ca/CADI\_Main\_Page.html. The system operates on a regular daily schedule with only minor interruptions for testing of new hardware or software. The current schedule will change to accommodate data requests received.

Data is available for research projects, and can be obtained by contacting Dale at, s.i.l@sil.sk.ca.

Relative to interest generated, SIL now publishes a CADI Users Newsletter.

If you would like to be on the mailing list for this informative publication, we at SIL look forward to hearing from you.
